Parent Partnership in Kingston

How can we help?

The Parent Partnership Service listens to and represents the views of parents who have children with Special Educational Needs in the borough of Kingston. My name is Anne Frayda, and I'm your contact as Parent Partnership Officer.

I have 10 years' teaching experience, and 10 more working in the voluntary sector as Direct Payments Information Officer at Kingston Centre for Independent Living, promoting the values of independence, choice and control to our service users, including the families of disabled children, before joining the Disabled Children's Information and Advice Service in November 2008.

I aim to provide a Parent Partnership Service that corresponds to your needs in prompt and practical ways. I offer friendly, impartial and confidential support to any parent in who feels they could benefit from this perspective.

No query, no problem, is too small – or too large – to share! For example, perhaps you're thinking....

- “My child is struggling at school at the moment...what can I do to help?”
- “The local authority is starting an Assessment – what does that mean?”
- “What does the law say about Special Educational Needs?”
- “I've been asked to write a report – where do I start?”
- “What happens at an Annual Review?”
- “Do I have to go to this meeting on my own?”
- “I don't feel the school is listening to my concerns...”

Whatever your concern, I'm happy to hear from you.

What's important is that, through our work together, you'll feel less overwhelmed - and more confident that you're on track to ensuring positive outcomes for your child later in life, through the educational options and choices available now.
